01 MESSAGE FROM THE EXECUTIVE DIRECTOR

Dear ANIDA Family,

As we gather our thoughts and reflections for this year's annual report, I want to share a story that captures the true essence of the hope ANIDA brings to people worldwide. During a visit to a small rural village in Ghana, I spoke with a young girl named Wendy.

We talked about Wendy's love for Jollof, a popular West African dish, and her pride in being Ghanaian. She was thrilled to hear that we both admired the meal! Her ambition is to become a teacher and make a difference in the lives of children across the nation. Although Wendy faces many challenges, her determination and passion remain unwavering.

Wendy wakes up every morning at 4:00 am to fetch water, performing her daily tasks with utmost dedication. After school, she cares for her siblings and diligently completes her homework. Even on Saturdays, she finds time to wash clothes before going out to play. Wendy's commitment to her responsibilities is a testament to her strength and resilience.

Her mother, Ophelia, shared her aspirations for the community—a place where water, toilets, and a hospital are accessible to all. Yet, Ophelia dreams of having her own farm, growing crops like maize and plantain to create a sustainable source of income.

At ANIDA, we stand firmly rooted in our core values of servant leadership, integrity, faith, community, and diversity. These values guide us as we work hand in hand with communities, addressing and uplifting their needs. We strive to demonstrate the love of Christ in everything we do, fostering an environment of compassion and understanding.

As we move forward, let us remember the real hope we bring to people like Wendy and Ophelia. Our mission as a Christian global development organization is to work with communities, increasing the standard of living for children, women, and families through education, health, and sustainable income. Together, we can create a brighter future for all.

I express my deepest gratitude to each and every one of you for your unwavering support and commitment to our cause. Together, we are making a tangible difference in the lives of individuals and communities worldwide. Thank you for being a part of the ANIDA family.

With heartfelt appreciation,

Samuel J. Donkor

WHO WE ARE

The All Nations International Development Agency (ANIDA), is an international organization, rooted in Christian values that creates opportunities through community empowerment to bring transformation to the nations. We initiate each of our poverty alleviation programs by engaging and collaborating with the communities in need to ensure their needs are met. In our efforts to develop leaders, we rely on our values to guide our decisions. We maximize the impact of our actions by aligning them with our strategic direction. ANIDA is highly committed to serving the poor and vulnerable communities worldwide, withholding the Christian values that guide our work. Above all, we strive to show the love of Christ to those we serve.

Our Core Values are:

Servant Leadership: Helping others is at the heart of what we do. Through conscious decision, we are humble in heart and mind, and ready to serve. Servant leaders follow their innate desire to help others, learning to embody the characteristics that allow them to continuously become better servants.

Integrity: We live a life of integrity in which our daily habits reflect our deepest values. We believe living with integrity means living your truth, embracing the path of honesty and fairness, and constantly challenging how we act and think.

Faith: ANIDA programs and projects are rooted in the context of the Christian faith to assist all people regardless of their religion, race, or gender. We use a faith-based, abundant mindset to help us through challenging seasons, increase mindfulness and compassion, bring peace, and help each person discover their purpose.

Community: We build a strong community through a shared sense of purpose and passion. A community is a circle of safety that creates an environment where leadership potential can flourish. Our communities provide a sense of belonging, and by joining our communities, you have a place to feel at home.

Diversity: Diversity helps us view the world from a different perspective. A solution often requires out-of-the-box thinking, and working with a diverse group helps us think of better, more practical solutions to challenging problems.

Our Mission Statement:

Our mission as a Christian global development organization is to work with communities to increase the standard of living of children, women, and families, through access to education, health, and sustainable income.

Our Vision Statement:

ANIDA's Impact in Ghana

Empowering Communities for Sustainable Change: ANIDA's Comprehensive Engagement Approach in Asuoyaa, Betom, and Akuadom

In 2022, ANIDA embarked on a comprehensive engagement process to uplift the communities we serve, including Asuoyaa, Betom, and Akuadom. Through our unwavering commitment to community engagement, collaboration, and leadership, we have focused on empowering individuals and fostering positive change. The dialogue with community leaders has covered a wide range of critical topics, including quality education, sustainable income practices, as well as health and nutrition. Taking these fundamental aspects into consideration is an essential step in the process of creating a sustainable and thriving environment for all. ANIDA's commitment to supporting the communities it serves remains steadfast as we work in partnership with them, resulting in a lasting impact on individual lives and the advancement of society as a whole.

Hope For Tomorrow (HFT)

The Hope for Tomorrow program is doing well and has improved greatly. The quality of life of the children under this program has also improved. The burden of parents or families paying school fees, books, and uniforms for their children has been reduced with the help of this intervention. Children have graduated from primary school to junior high school, others to high school, and from there to the university. Most Ghanaians value this support more than any other incentive because education is key. Any child that gets the opportunity to go to school has a bright future and will contribute meaningfully to society.

2022 Workshops

Health Talk: Adolescent Reproductive Health

The Health talk was successfully organized and served as an opportunity to educate the children and young adults on the importance of good adolescent health and hygiene. A Community Health Nurse from Ghana Health Service (Magazine Community-Based Health Planning and Services) was the resource person together with two other colleagues. She spoke extensively on who an adolescent is, and the ages that fall under the adolescence period. A lot of illustrations were demonstrated for the children to understand the changes that occur in the body during the adolescent stage and how to manage them. She also spoke about teenage pregnancy and its related consequences. She explained to the children the various sexually transmitted diseases, how it is contracted, and their prevention.

The number of children who participated was about one hundred and twenty (120) with ten (10) parents in attendance.

Empowering Women's Development at WDC: Unlocking Skills, Creating Opportunities

WDC Occupational/Entrepreneurial Skills Project

This program is designed to assist those who would not otherwise have been able to get a formal education or learn a trade. By providing our students with practical skills, this course is designed to empower them to be financially independent by generating income to sustain themselves and contribute to their communities. Many women in the Eastern region consider the Women's Development Centre (WDC) to be a beacon of hope. WDC believes that education and vocational training have the power to transform lives and create lasting change.

Enrollment and Achievements:

In 2022, we enrolled 158 new morning students across different levels, with a total of 275 students actively participating in our programs. These individuals represent the driving force behind our efforts to empower women and create sustainable change.

Success Stories:

Our programs' impact is exemplified by our graduates' success stories. Juliana Yeboah, a WDC alumna, is pursuing a fashion course at Koforidua Technical University. As a result of the School of Aesthetics' graduates, approximately 30% have gone on to start their own salons, demonstrating the power of education and skill to bring about a positive change in all aspects of life.

Challenges and future goals:

In addition to celebrating our accomplishments, we acknowledge the challenges we face in the future. Drop-outs remain a concern for various reasons, and we are committed to addressing these issues head-on.

Achievements of WDC Students

Five students from the School of Aesthetics have opened salons where six students from the School of Aesthetics are employed. One student has gathered the confidence to write the National Vocation Training Institute (NVTI) examination in fashion and one has gotten admission to Koforidua Technical University. Three (3) graduates have started trading and they are now able to record all transactions as a result of the teachings in the WDC School of Continuing Education.

JAMAICA

In the West Indies, Jamaica is home to over 2.8 million resilient and hardworking people. Jamaica offers immense potential for sustainable development as the third largest island in the Caribbean Sea and the fourth most populous country in the region. ANIDA is delighted to serve the Savanna La-Mar, Goshen, and Portmore communities, working to help unleash the God-given potential of children, women, and their families and encourage further development. With our combined efforts, we can create an environment of opportunity for these unique communities.

Hope For Tomorrow (HFT)

Find out what ANIDA Jamaica has accomplished through its transformative programs and initiatives, driven by our commitment to building a brighter future. Through Hope for Tomorrow, we have been able to make a real and tangible difference in the lives of Jamaican communities. In order to ensure that families have access to nutritious food, we distribute essential food packages on a quarterly basis. In addition to providing aid for textbooks and uniforms, back-to-school support includes additional lessons that empower students to succeed academically. But our impact doesn't stop there - we believe in holistic support. That's why we organize parent workshops, equipping caregivers with knowledge on education, finances, nutrition, employment, and safeguarding. Join us on this journey of empowerment and hope. Together, we can create lasting change.

Going forward, we will continue to support and build good working relationships with parents and schools by promoting what we do within the voluntary, government, and private sectors.

Sponsoring a child creates a ripple effect that reaches far beyond the individual, igniting a beacon of hope. Education is a cornerstone of empowerment in Jamaica, and by sponsoring a child, you are investing in their future. Through their development, these young minds become agents of change that pave the way for a stronger, more prosperous community. Seeing the positive changes in their lives inspires children to give back to their communities. As they grow, they develop a profound sense of gratitude and an unwavering commitment to creating a better future for themselves and the people around them.

The Chicken Project: Empowering Women and Children

One Feathered Friend at a Time At ANIDA, our commitment to servant leadership, integrity, community, diversity, and faith shines through in every project we undertake. We are thrilled to share the remarkable impact of our Chicken Project, made possible by the generous support of donors like you.

We started with the purchase of 100 chickens, a small but meaningful step towards empowering these individuals and fostering self-sufficiency. Through the sale of 324 lbs of chicken meat, we were able to generate much-needed funds to support the women and children in our program. The impact on their lives has been positive, and they now feel more hopeful and confident for the future.

We are now setting our sights on expansion, as we believe that together, we can achieve even greater heights. Obtaining additional land space will allow us to increase our chicken population to a minimum of 400 per cycle, which will enable us to serve a broader community and amplify our impact. Further, this expansion allows us to explore cash crops, further increasing our profitability and sustainability.

Without the support of donors such as you, the Chicken Project would not have been able to achieve its initial success. In providing these women and children with the resources they need to thrive and flourish, your generosity has made a tangible difference in their lives. With your continued support, we can build a future where every person has the opportunity to spread their wings and soar. Together, let us empower women and children, one feathered friend at a time.

LIBERIA

Liberia, a country in West Africa with a population of 5.19 million was founded by free people of color from the United States. The emigration of African Americans, both free and recently emancipated, was founded and organized by the American Colonization Society (ACS). Africa's first elected female president is from Liberia. We are currently serving the people in the following communities; Ganta, Sanniquellie, Loguatu, and Gowee-Tonzolomon.

Story by Fatmata:

I am a victim of an early marriage”, Fatmata narrated her ordeal. “It all happened when my father abandoned me to my teenage mother that I was left with no option but to get into early marital life sanctioned by my mother who felt I was being a burden to her. Today, my friends have left me behind in education. I thank God that the world is turning to speak out against these vices in society.

Hope For Tomorrow (HFT)

The Hope for Tomorrow (HFT) program of ANIDA in Liberia provides children with the opportunity to receive a quality education and break free from poverty. There has been an impressive sponsorship rate of 98% in Liberia, ensuring that nearly every child in our program receives the support they require. We can provide support for their education and empower them to pursue their dreams due to the generous contributions of our sponsors and donors.

Country:
Liberia

Total Registered
Children in HFT: 64

All Countries: 12.12%

Children: 63

Nevertheless, we know that many additional children in Liberia live in demeaning conditions and urgently need assistance. By doing so, we can extend a lifeline to even more children and provide them with the education and opportunities they deserve.

A heartwarming meeting was held recently with foster parents and guardians of ANIDA-sponsored children in Ganta. They expressed their gratitude to our sponsors and donors for their continued support. To further strengthen our commitment to these children, we established the ANIDA's Children Parents Association (ACPA), a parent committee dedicated to encouraging and supporting the sponsored children.

To address some families' transportation challenges, we are working to implement a motorcycle or taxi transportation system in collaboration with the ACPA and community leaders. With this initiative, we will ensure that every child can access their education without difficulty, allowing them to excel in the classroom.

Community Initiatives

Unlocking the Power of Unity: International Day of the African Child

At ANIDA, we believe in the collective strength of communities coming together to create positive change. We proudly present the International Day of the African Child. This meaningful event ignites awareness and mobilizes communities to address social and educational injustices.

It is a special day that honours the memory of courageous students who in 1976 bravely protested against injustice and inequality under the Apartheid regime in Soweto, South Africa, paying the ultimate price for their courage.

In Liberia, specifically in Nimba County, we are committed to addressing the pressing issues that impede learning outcomes for children. The theme for this year is "Eliminating Harmful Practices Affecting Children: Progress on Policy & Practice since 2013," which calls upon local and national leaders to take decisive action to protect children's welfare. Together, we strive to create a society in which harmful practices are no longer allowed to impede the development and growth of children. The mobilization of local communities and raising awareness regarding child safeguarding policies can ensure that every child is protected and has the opportunity to succeed in life. In embracing their cultural heritage and celebrating their potential, it serves as a platform for showcasing our African children's incredible talents, gifts, and abilities.

We are thrilled to share the outcomes of this impactful event. Communities have united in their commitment to eliminating social and educational injustices. Our collective effort has raised awareness of the importance of honouring the International Day of the African Child, attracting the attention of state actors who have pledged to legislate on eliminating harmful practices affecting children.

Together, we are making a difference. By mobilizing resources and empowering local communities, we ensure that children's plights are addressed, and their dreams are nurtured. This is a testament to the power of unity and the impact we can achieve when we come together for a common cause.

Igniting Empowerment: ANIDA's Farmland Project in Liberia

The Farmland Project is our latest endeavour that emphasizes gender equality awareness and income-generating activities on a community farm in Liberia in an effort to enhance women's empowerment.

In the vibrant Tonzolomon community of Liberia, ANIDA is working tirelessly to increase the knowledge and skills of local women in farming, boost food production, improve food security, and elevate economic returns for the entire community. Our comprehensive program includes training 100 individuals, focusing on empowering 75 women in commercial farming and processing.

As a result of the generous grant from the Gay Lea Foundation, we have received $17,950 that will be used for expanding and maximizing the productivity of the existing farm in Tonzolomon. Through this funding, we are able to offer essential training and capacity-building workshops, promote gender equality, and raise awareness of the program's impact on the local community. Our Liberia Farmland Project has already sprung into action with planting cassava, plantains, eddoes, and potatoes.

Furthermore, we are expanding our poultry and pig farming operations to ensure a diverse and sustainable approach to agriculture. Our dedicated team, initially comprised of 5 individuals, is working diligently to cultivate the land and nurture the farm animals.

As we embark on the next phase of this transformative project, we anticipate expanding our team to hire at least fifty individuals at each stage of the farming process. From brushing, clearing, planting, weeding to harvesting and beyond, we aim to provide employment opportunities to over a hundred families. Investing in their skills and livelihoods fosters economic growth. It empowers vulnerable populations, such as older people, people with disabilities, and women and girls who face disadvantages.

We recognize the need for continuous improvement and sustainability to achieve our goals. We are beginning with acquiring additional land, constructing permanent structures for the birds and pigs, and ensuring optimal nutrition and healthcare. We are adapting our strategies for long-term success by cultivating strong and resilient African breeds, learning from our past experiences, and adapting to changing climate conditions.

The impact of our Farmland Project extends beyond agricultural production. It resonates deeply within the Bain Garr district and Northern Liberia, all within the beautiful Nimba County. We are sowing the seeds of change and nurturing a brighter future for all by providing employment opportunities, enhancing food security, and empowering marginalized communities.

Together, we can unlock the potential of women, uplift communities, and create a sustainable pathway to prosperity. Join us in igniting empowerment and be part of the transformative journey that will empower future generations.

ANIDA. Empowering Communities. Transforming Lives.

Empowering Women: ANIDA's WDC Pilot Project

Through the generosity of our donors, ANIDA's Women Development Center (WDC) is profoundly impacting the lives of vulnerable women and girls in Liberia. With 29 participants enrolled in 2022, we have provided transformative training in pastry and interior decoration, enabling these women to pursue their passions and acquire essential skills.

It serves as a beacon of hope, offering a supportive environment for women to discover their talents, overcome obstacles, and reach their full potential. Ten participants have completed the program, demonstrating their remarkable dedication and resilience despite their challenges.

We are immensely grateful for the support we have received thus far. Your generous contributions have enabled us to provide opportunities for these women and girls, empowering them to build brighter futures for themselves and their communities. By working together, we are fostering positive change and inspiring a world where every woman has an equal opportunity for success.

Food insecurity affects not only access to nourishment but also the overall health and well-being of those who experience it. Through our ANIDA Food Bank, we strive to address this pressing issue by providing essential support to those in need. Our commitment goes beyond providing over 850,000 pounds of food per year. We believe in empowering individuals and fostering a sense of community by encouraging self-sufficiency and promoting long-term solutions. As we address the unique needs of over 2,600 individuals, including vulnerable seniors, we strive to alleviate the burdens of food insecurity and shape a better and more equitable future.

Nurturing Growth, Cultivating Community: ANIDA's Flourishing Garden

ANIDA's community garden is a vivid example of our commitment to fostering growth and cultivating a sense of belonging within the communities we serve. Beyond the tangible harvest, our community garden profoundly impacts food security and nutrition within our community. Fresh produce enables individuals and families to make healthier choices and access nutritious food options. The garden becomes a source of nourishment, fostering a sustainable and self-reliant approach to addressing food insecurity.

Unified Forces: Amplifying Impact through Strategic Partnerships

ANIDA's Summer Booktopia is an exciting program designed to ignite a passion for reading in children and youth in the Black Creek community and the Greater Toronto Area (GTA). Individuals of all ages, interests, and abilities are welcomed into our program, which offers a world of literary exploration and endless possibilities for them.

Indigo Love of Reading Foundation

The Indigo "LOR" partnered with ANIDA to help promote literacy to children and support vulnerable Canadian families through the 2022 Summer Reading Matters program. This partnership was to enable the purchasing of kids' and teen books from Indigo.

Coding Workshop (Hackergal)

Hackergal hosted two hybrid workshops on Thursday, August 11th, 2022 (with coding activities for girls ages 9-14 years of age and 15-18 years of age). We broadcasted hybrid workshops via Zoom Cloud Meeting to girls unable to attend the in-person workshops.

The idea was to expose the children and youth to STEAM (Science, Technology, Engineering, Arts, and Mathematics) by collaborating with activity partners and guest speakers. Our goal is to identify and contact potential collaborations, develop, and implement a plan for exposure to STEAM principles and concepts, and track and assess the impact of our program on the participants. We will continue to empower children and youth by building their confidence and sense of belonging in their communities through diverse books that speak to them; introducing young people to STEAM, particularly girls, to fields such as trades and technology; and promote life skills and critical thinking.

Plangroup Canstruction

ANIDA is honored to collaborate with Plangroup, an esteemed electrical and mechanical company, in our mission to support the ANIDA Foodbank and combat food insecurity. The dedicated employees of Plangroup have gone above and beyond to spread awareness about food insecurity throughout the Black Creek Humber Summit communities by utilizing cans in an innovative manner. Not only have they tirelessly raised funds to procure essential food supplies for the community, but they have also generously compensated their employees for volunteering their time and efforts to support those in need. The commitment of Plangroup to fostering a culture of giving back is truly inspiring, and ANIDA is proud to partner with organizations that embody the values of compassion, community engagement, and collective impact. The collective impact we are making in the lives of those facing food insecurity has the potential to foster a brighter future for all.

Harmony of Giving: ANIDA's Holiday Food Drive

A Christmas party was organized by ANIDA as a way of supporting families in the Ottawa and Toronto communities during the festive season as a way to show care and love towards the community. Items distributed or given out were bottles of body wash, cake mixes, frostings, baby carrots, chickens, meat items, potatoes, onions, etc. We were able to serve seniors, families, and single-family households. In Ottawa, we proudly served approximately 70 families, whereas in Toronto, we served approximately 342 families. These numbers represent the unity and generosity of our community, coming together to make a tangible difference in the lives of those who may be facing hardships during the holiday season.

07 FUTURE PLANS

Bayanihan for a Brighter Tomorrow: ANIDA's Thriving Future in Kidapawan City, Philippines

ANIDA's future plans in the Philippines are centered around community collaboration, engagement, and leadership development in Kidapawan City. We believe that by actively involving the community in our programs and projects, we can create sustainable and meaningful change. By engaging communities in our poverty relief programs, we ensure community ownership and tailor our strategies to meet the specific needs of each community.

The engagement process begins with thorough data collection. As part of the process, we identify and involve various stakeholders, including local community leaders, parents, youth groups, school leaders, non-profit organizations, civil society organizations, government officials, and political leaders. The mapping of these stakeholders will allow us to gain a better understanding of their roles and interests within the community.

Upon completion of the data collection phase, we schedule a meeting with the community leaders and stakeholders for discussion of the results of our analysis. Our collaborative approach allows us to determine the best course of action together and align our programs with the priorities of the community.

As we expand our presence in the Philippines, Kidapawan City serves as the pilot area for the ANIDA program. In addition to its great need, this location is easily accessible, has an expansive network, and is connected to local officials, government offices, and the local community in general. The city's peaceful and welcoming environment provides us with the opportunity to establish a strong foundation for our organization.

Among our future programs in Kidapawan City is the construction of a water system for the Nursery Site Phase 1, also known as Purok Ponkan. By providing a reliable and sustainable source of water for the community, this initiative aims to improve the quality of life of the residents.

Additionally, we are considering the implementation of the RISE TO RICE Program, a buy-and-sell initiative focused on rice. This program aims to cater to the specific needs of the Kidapawan community, ensuring food security and promoting economic empowerment.

Through these programs and projects, ANIDA aims to empower the community, foster collaboration, and develop leadership skills among its members. We believe that strong leadership, community involvement, and sustainable initiatives are the keys to creating lasting change and improving the lives of children and families in Kidapawan City.

08 MESSAGE FROM THE BOARD CHAIR

Dear Valued Donors,

On behalf of the Board of Directors of ANIDA, I want to express our deepest gratitude for your incredible support and generosity. As we reflect on the impact report for this year, we are humbled by the tangible difference we have made in the lives of individuals and communities worldwide.

Your unwavering commitment to our cause has allowed us to empower women, children, and families through education, health and sustainable income initiatives. The stories we have shared in the report, like that of Wendy and Ophelia from Ghana, exemplify the transformative power of your contributions.

The impact we have achieved together goes far beyond mere numbers. Your donations put a smile on the faces of children attending school, empower women to start their own businesses, and improve access to healthier lifestyles.

We cannot achieve these ambitious goals without your ongoing support. As the Board Chair, I am privileged to witness firsthand the dedication and passion of our team as they work tirelessly to implement our programs and initiatives. Our progress has been made possible through your generosity, and we invite you to join us as we strive toward a more compassionate and equitable world. By supporting our projects, you fuel our efforts, uplift our spirits and strengthen our commitment to helping those in need.

Once again, thank you for your unwavering dedication and belief in our mission. We are pleased to have you as part of the ANIDA family and are grateful for your partnership and contributions. Together, we will continue to create a world where hope and opportunity flourish for all.

With heartfelt appreciation,
